Even the most ardent believers in Mr. Mill's powers among our readers will probably have received this appouncement with some incredulity. Secret of the Tools Used by the Incas and the Aztecs.

What was the combination of metals from which the Egyptians, Aztecs: and the Incas of Peru manufactured their tools and arms? Though each of these nations reached a high state of civilization, none of them ever discovered from in spite of the fact that the soil of all three countries was largely impregnated with it. #### The Chinese Sampans.

In Canton 400,000 people spend their whole existence in boats, which are there called sampans. They are born in them, live in them from infancy to old age and finally die in them. Collectively these boats form a floating suburb to the city proper, one of the most amazing human settlements in the world. Every creek is crammed with them. Along the main banks of the river they are huddled twenty deep -so close together that the covering of mats appears continuous as far as the eye can reach. And each sampan houses a separate family, with its own big brazier lamp, which serves for heating, lighting and cooking the evening meal. The scene when a really serious conflagration once gets a proper hold in the midst of these floating wooden homes may be imagined. Escape is impossible except for those moored at the outermost edge. In one of these conflagrations over a thousand persons lost their lives.

THE BURYING BEETLE.

Dead Mice and Birds Scoreted as Food For Its Young.

People often wonder what becomes p of the dead mice and dead birds, for, though birds and mice are constantly dying in large numbers, hardly one is ever to be seen. The fact is that they are buried by beetles. Buchner gives a brief account of them as follows.

"Several of them unite together to bury under the ground, as food and shelter for their young, some dead anlmat, such as a mouse, a toad, a mole, a bird, etc. The burial is performed because the corpse. If left above ground, would either dry up or grow rotten or be eaten by other animals. in all these cases the young would perish, whereas the dead body lying in the earth and withdrawn from the onter air lasts very well.

"The burying beetles go to work in a very well considered fashion, for they scrape away the earth lying un-Ist cent—myself.

I have put my life into this work—I hold the record of thousands of cures—der the body so that it sinks of itself not "some better"—but thousands of deeper and deeper. When it is deep and big and well: and their letters are If the situation is stony, the beetles, with united forces and great efforts, drag the corpse to some place more suitable for burying. They work so diligently that a mouse, for instance. is buried within three hours. But they often work on for days, so as to bury the body as deeply as possible. From large carcasses, such as those of horses, sheep, etc., they only bury pieces as large as they can manage."

There can be no doubt of the intelligence of these strange insects, as a gentleman discovered in a rather curitoad, and for that purpose he fastened it upon the top of an upright stick. The burying beetles, however, were soon attracted by the smell, and, finding that they could not reach the toad. they undermined the stick, causing it to fall with the toad, which was then duly buried -Our Animal Friends.

Some people seem to have an idea that because Adolph does such a tremendous business in $2.45 and $3.45 shoes that we must necessarily neglect the $4.00 and $5.00 grades, but this is not a fact. The great bulk of this magnificent business is done at these two prices and no other shoe store or shoe department attempts to carry the number of styles, patterns and designs that the Adolph store does at$1.95 and $2.45. And just as surely no one else can afford to put the superlative value into their $1.95 and $2.45 shoes and oxfords that Adolph does. If you have worn Adolph's $1.95 and $2.45 shoes you have alstall ready proven it.

Adolph's stocks of women's oxfords are replete with every Metropolitan novelty that has been brought out this season. The fashionable suede leather may be had in boots or oxfords, and the new and extremely popular bronzes for street wear have been used in many dainty and effective patterns. There are plain pumps, new ankle strap pumps, one and two eyelet effects, three and four eyelet oxfords and a host of distinctive features that are not to be found in any other shoe stock in this vicinity, You will find Adolph's $3.45 oxfords equal in wearing qualities, fit, elegance of finish and style of footwear that costs a great deal more in other stores.

The mammoth stock which the Adolph store carries enables Adolph's expernced salesmen to satisfy the most exacting, not only as to style and price, but n perfect fitting, for there are all sizes and widths in stock at all times, and particular attention is given to extremely small and narrow sizes.

A MIGHTY FORTRESS.

The Famous Rock of Gibraltar and its Armament.

IN EVERY CREVICE.

The Place Stored With Food and: Munitions of War to Stand a Siege of Seven Years-An English View of the Cannon Studded Stronghold.

"An enemy's flect could be sent to the bottom in ten minutes before getting within five miles of Gibraltar. Not even a torpedo boat could succeed in entering the bay unobserved on the blackest night." That sums up the opinions of the most eminent pavai experts as to the impregnability of the world's greatest fortress.

But disappointment awaits the sightseeing visitor. The rock, though bar ren, is covered with luxuriant vegetation-not a fort prominent, not a gun to be seen even with the most pow erful glasses, no discernible ammunition magazines, no strongholds, only a peaceful, prosperous harbor and a sleepy, straggling town.

It is night, and the maneuvers are on. Swift playing searchlights transform the bay into a sheet of shimmering silver upon which are seen majestic British warships and clongated flying shadows, the torpedoes. Guns answer guns out of every conceivable crevice and corner, blending in one deafening uproar, while scores of shells plow the water for miles around.

Sentries are everywhere; infantry parties crouch in the shadows; hundreds of gunners stand ready behind hundreds of guns in these mysterious labyrinths bewn out of the solid rock-"the galleries." The victous barking of Maxim guns gives contrast to the deep toned baying of these mammoth pieces of ordnance, the mere report of which cracks stone roofs and bursts doors and whole windows. Could any fleet live through the murderous bail of gigantic shells?

Gibraltar never sleeps. By day and night two perfectly equipped signal stations, proudly flaunting Britain's flag of ownership, unceasingly sweep the seas around to a distance of fifteen miles on a clear day, instantly reporting the coming and going of each vessel. Sentries guard all the prominent forts, magazines and gateways; gunners sleep beside their guns; engineers are ever ready beside the powerful searchlights.

Modern "needle" guns, the finest in Europe, are installed on all the most prominent points. They are unreachaable from the sea, even as they are undiscernible, owing to the skill with which they are painted and draped to match the surrounding vegetation. while huge screens drop automatically before them as each shell is fired. They have a range of fifteen miles and could drop shells on Ceuta, in Africa, opposite, quite comfortably. One gun weighs 110 tons and is capable of throwing a shell weighing three-quarters of a ton. In that marvel of engineering under great difficulties, the galleries are concealed gaus for every day in the year. These galleries are divided into three sections, entry to which is guarded. while one is closed even to high officers, containing preserved stores, munitions of war, raiawater (for Gibraltar has no springs) and a complete condensing plant-all calculated to outlast a siege of seven years. The firing is the most mathematically perfect imaginable. The surrounding waters are mapped out into squares, upon which certain guns are kept ready trained, so that it is almost impossible to miss. During practice targets are towed across the bay, the object being to bit the water a few yards in advance of them.

Although the sentries have now been reduced, a few years ago 158 were needed daily, the most important point being the north front, where English sentries face Spanish sentries. But the mere pressure of an electric button by the officer of the guard would cause a miniature earthquake on the neutral ground. -- Cassell's Saturday Journal.

HER LIFE FOR HER MOTHER.

A Story Which Sheds a Bright Light Upon the Filial Devotion of Kanaka Women-The Reason a Baby's Advances Were Not Returned.

The usual Honolulu crowd was down it the dock when the steamship from San Francisco pulled alongside the pier on a brilliant, balmy afternoon in January some years ago. American women in summer afternoon costumes, a few English and a few German women of society, arrayed also for steamer day, leaned back languorously in Mrs. F. E. One of these Kanaka women at the there by the death of the former's dock on this brilliant January afternoon was particularly beautiful. She was clad like the rest of the women of her race. She was fully five feet ten inches in height, and the white silk cord with which, unlike the other Kaaaka women, she drew her white dress about her waist emphasized the splendid herole proportions of her figure. Kaomouna seemed quite unconscious of her beauty. The young shipping clerks, hurrying to and fro on the dock with their pencils behind their ears stopped suddenly when they caught sight of her. The women in the carriages, who had not been long down from the States or from Europe, saw Kaomouna and asked the women of longer Honolulu residence, "Who is that glorious creature?" Kaomouna.

> "Did you ever in your whole life see such a perfectly beautiful woman?" asked the young wife of her husband in a whisper when he came up. "And Tita seemed to take to her immediately. If we could only have her for a nurse for Tita!"

Kgomouna beard her. "Kaomouna would love to be that." she replied in a soft Kanaka accented

Organized Burglary?

According to the belief of some of the officials of the river district an organized band of burglars, thieves and crooks have their head-quarters somewhere in the district, and are systematically working the towns and country along the river. The numerous burglaries and hold-ups of late, particularly in the smaller towns and in the country, where there is no organized police force, seems to warrant such a conclusion. These acts of lawessness are becoming too frequent to be tolerated.

About the only remedy in sight is better police organization in the rural districts. When the State Constabulary detachment was quartered at Belle Vernon there was a marked decrease in burglaries and hold-ups in this section, for the reason that a bunch of active officers was ready at all times, to run down criminals. More than that the State police had a habit of nosing around and making it inconvenient for crooks to tarry long in the community. But now, because there is no money in the fund to pay the State policemen for patroling the country district, they are herded up in a barrack to save expense turne out to pasture, as it were

If any money was appropriated by the last Legislature to make these officers effective, it should be employed at once. This section of the Monongahela valley needs a detachment located here, and needs it badly.

Support the Games.

Barring weather conditions, Charleroi has baseball today and tomorrow. Uniontown is scheduled to try conclusions with the local team of the Pennsylvania and West Virginia League, and some good games may be expected. A good attendance at these games is also expected, as on the financial receipts depend the success of the league. A good way to promote the interest of your home town is to attend the ball games. They need the money.

Professional baseball games at twenty-five cents admission is exceedingly cheap. The Class A. leagues charge fifty cents, yet they are only a few degrees faster than the teams of the Pennsylvania and West Virginia League, which is in class D. This league will be playing ball only a shade slower than the big leagues before the season is over, when the big fellows will be looking us over to draft recruits. This league has already furnished some good timber for the National teams. The games here are every bit as interesting as the National contests, and they cost the spectator only half as much.

"Washington broke" has a familiar sound. Charleroi was that way once, but at present this borough is not in quite so bad shape as the county

Some people seem to have an idea that because Adolph does such a tremendous business in $2.45 and $3.45 shoes that we must necessarily negleet the $4.00 and $5.00 grades, but this is not a fact. The great bulk of this magnificent business is done at these two prices and no other shoe store or shoe department attempts to carry the number of styles, "

Adolph's stocks of women's oxfords are replete with every Metropolitan novelty that has. been brought out this season. The fashionable suede leather may be had in boots or oxfords, and the new and extremely popular bronzes for street wear have been used in many dainty and effective pattems. There are plain pumps, new ankle strap pumps, one and four eyelet oxfords and a host of distinctive features that are not to be found in any other shoe stock in this vicinity. You will find Adolph's $3.45 oxfords equal in wearing qualities, fit, elegance of finish and style of footwear that costs a great deal more in other stores.

The mammoth stock which the Adolph store carries enables Adolph's experheed salesmen to satisfy the most exacting, not only as to style and price, but perfect fitting, for there are all sizes and widths in stock at all times, and parficular attention is given to extremely small and narrow sizes.
